INFORMATION LETTER

Dear Colleagues,

At the initiative of the Chairperson of the Constitutional Court of the Republic of Kazakhstan and with the support of the Akimat of the Turkistan Region, the 2nd International Symposium “Dialogue of Cultures 2026” will be held in Turkistan on November 26-27, 2026.

The symposium is devoted to the study of national legal heritage and the philosophy of law in the context of contemporary constitutionalism and international standards. The event will bring together representatives of constitutional review bodies, international organizations and United Nations agencies, government institutions, and the academic and expert community, providing an opportunity to exchange scholarly views and practical experience in order to renew legal culture.

The discussions will place particular emphasis on strengthening the rule of law, increasing public confidence in legal institutions, and affirming constitutional values. The role of the leadership of the Constitutional Court in these areas will be considered in connection with the importance of law and order in building a responsible society.

We respectfully invite the deans and deputy deans of the law faculties of the higher education institutions under your leadership, as well as scholars and researchers who conduct research on the above topics or have an academic interest in them, to attend the symposium as participants.

We believe that the participation of your colleagues will enrich the scholarly exchange and contribute to stronger academic cooperation between universities. We kindly ask you to support the participation of the above-mentioned specialists in the symposium.

Travel and accommodation expenses are to be covered by the participants. The symposium programme is attached.
